

The National Assembly

The national assembly is at the top of the Main Mall where it is surrounded by other tall government buildings. At the centre of this government enclave is a paved square with a war memorial in memory of 300 Botswana who died fighting with the allies against fascism in the second world war, 1939 to 1945. There is also a statue of Sir Seretse Khama, Botswana's first president..